

ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

This invention relates to a novel, efficient, economic and general-purpose process for isolating monophenolic-bisaryl triazine compounds from polyphenolic-triazines
5 compounds and other impurities. More specifically, this invention relates to a process for isolating the monophenolic-bisaryl triazine compounds by contacting it with a base, an alcohol or a hydrocarbon solvent.